WEEKS 6-10: A banquet!

Some helpful online resources:

- A. Dictionaries. If you're thinking there's more to know about how a word is used than is made clear in Traupman (or other small dictionaries), you're right! It's a good idea to get some practice reading articles in the large Lewis & Short dictionary, which can be consulted at
- a. <http://www.perseus.tufts.edu/hopper/morph.jsp> (also identifies forms)
 - b. <http://archimedes.fas.harvard.edu/pollux/>
- B. Grammars. I have not assigned a reference grammar of Latin, since our commentaries and class discussions should answer our questions. But several good grammars are freely available and searchable online.
- a. Bennett's grammar is a concise overview of all the basics.
